

Appendix 2: Discount.

1. Purpose of the Discount Structure

Our goal with the discount structure is to ensure consistent and fair treatment of all dealers based on mutual respect, while also rewarding those who make an extra effort.

2. Base Discount.

Base Discount: 25%

Demonstration Machine Discount: 25% – 10%

3. Discount 1: Volume-Based Discount – The more you buy, the higher the discount.

Timan offers the possibility of additional discounts, as shown in the table below, when multiple machines are purchased in a single order. If multiple units of the same type of attachment are included in the same order, the standard discount of 25% applies to those attachments.

4. Discount 2: Delivery Time – Higher discount for longer delivery times.

If the delivery time exceeds 3 months from the date the order is placed, an additional discount may be granted.

5. Discount 3: Own Demonstration – Own Sale

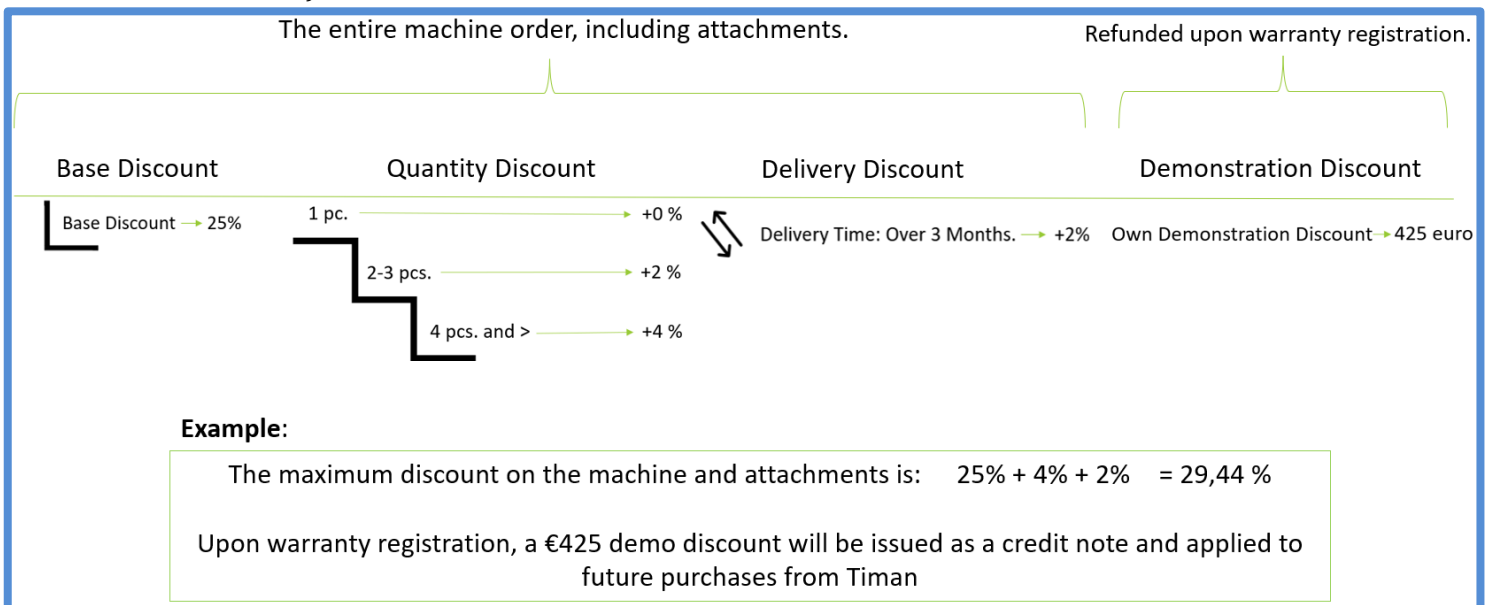

If the dealer completes a sale without Timan being involved in the demonstration, this is considered the dealer's own sale. The demo discount applies to the base machine only, excluding attachments and accessories.

The demonstration discount is issued as a credit note, which will be offset against future purchases from Timan.

6. Calculation of Discount.

The discount is calculated based on combined or sequential discounts, and is always calculated as a cumulative chain discount:

Base Discount + Discount 1 + Discount 2 + Discount 3 (Base Discount + Volume Discount + Delivery Time Discount + Demonstration Discount)
